

ASTERISMBOOKS

Distributing the best in independent publishing.

Winter 2025

Welcome

Dear all,

We hope you're all recovering from the holiday rush, and have had a few restorative moments somewhere in there.

Things, as ever, continue to grow in exciting ways here at Asterism! We're happy to announce that we will now be distributing Artforum and Parapraxis magazines, adding to an already stellar lineup of serial and periodicals including The Whitney Review, BOMB, e-flux Index, and more. Also new since last we spoke, the UK's Influx Press, chapbook makers extraordinaire 1080 Press from New York, eminent institution of feminist literature Belladonna* Collaborative, and several more than you'll find under our Publisher Highlights section.

And as we enter that time of year when we get all misty with reflection, we want to extend a heartfelt thank you for so many of you who have been partners to us and our publishers in preserving a space for truly independent literature to thrive this year.

We began this year with just over one hundred partner bookstores and forty publishers. As it stands, we now work with nearly 500 independent bookstores from around the world, and we represent 165 publishers at the time this catalog is going to print. Between April and August, we brought more than 120,000 books into our Seattle warehouse, where we built out our showroom for hosting events and occasional book sales, and where you're all invited if ever you're in town.

We look forward to the year ahead, and while it promises to be a challenging climate for producing and promoting the kinds of art we all love and care about, we're heartened by the strength and resolve of this community.

Altars of Madness

The 100 puzzles in this book are identical grids of 1025 randomly numbered dots. As you have done since childhood, your task is to connect those dots in sequence with straight lines. It is as simple as that. We do not know what a finished puzzle looks like. How could we? We've never read one of our own books. It's not time to start now. We simply lay the trap, meticulously, methodically, mechanically.
